

O-Bahn City Access Project

East Terrace Realignment

May 2016

Works to realign East Terrace between Grenfell Street and Bartels Road will commence from 13 May 2016, as part of the O-Bahn City Access Project. This will involve construction of a new roadway to directly connect the East Terrace intersection with Grenfell Street and Hutt Street.

What works are involved?

Construction activities to complete the realignment will include:

- establishment of a site compound
- tree removals
- relocation and reinstatement of the fountain
- road construction including new pavement and drainage
- installation of new street lighting
- intersection modifications

Agreement has been reached with Adelaide City Council and Tandanya to relocate the existing fountain within Rymill Park, east of the newly realigned East Terrace.

Overview and Timing

Works will commence from 13 May 2016 and are planned to be completed in the last quarter of 2016, with the reinstatement of the fountain to take place in 2017.

Tree removal and replacement

The realignment works include the removal of 35 amenity trees and 2 regulated trees. All efforts are continuously being made to reduce the impact on the Park Lands. Vegetation removals will be offset with new landscaping, that will be incorporated into urban design amenity improvements, in consultation with the Adelaide City Council, including the relocation of the fountain.

Traffic Management

East Terrace will remain open to traffic at all times and parking and pedestrian access points will be clearly signposted. Speed and lane restrictions will be in place and motorists are requested to use extra care when workers are on site.
